Class 50s In Operation By David Clough (Ian Allen)

It is not every day you can buy such a key work from a recognised expert on the subject of Class 50s. Class 50s in Operation is that work. Authored by David Clough, Chairman of Project Defiance, it covers the whole class 50 story; starting from the LMS prototypes 10000/1, through DP2, and on to the production of the fifty 50s. It includes how they were built, operated and maintained, as well as all significant events of their time in service.

David's research has encompassed the wealth of official records and the personal experiences of staff who drove and maintained the locos. This provides both the BR and EE perspective on incidents and brings together both the human and technical story. In short the definitive guide to the Class 50.

Looking Back at English Electric Locomotives (Kevin Derrick Strathwood)

The popular Looking Back Series from Strathwood has reached the English Electric stable. This book covers the prototypes, class 50s, 37s, Deltics, 40s, Baby Deltics, 20s, 08s, 13s, 73s, 83s, and even the 31s, in over 175 previously unpublished full colour photographs.

The photos depict locos at work on wide range of services, from “out of the box” new, to work shabby and even part cut up at the scrap yard. Most subclasses and livery variations are depicted at are a wide range of locations, on shed, in service and even off the rails completely. The book also takes a look at a few of the more extreme accident victims, special workings, and unlikely pairings.

As with previous titles in the series, this is a limited edition of only a 1000 hardback copies, printed on high quality heavyweight glossy paper, and approx 22x28cm. 96 pages.

Class 50s for the Microsoft® Train Simulator

Over the last few years a number of different train simulator packages have become available for the personal computer. The best known is produced by Microsoft ® and builds on their highly respected flight simulator packages. A number of different add ons are available for the basic package expanding the railway routes, and rolling stock available to be driven from the comfort of your home, office or even on the train.

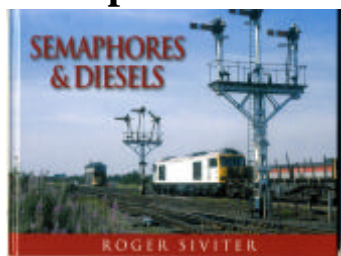

This add on pack adds all fifty class 50s in a range of appropriate liveries from before refurbishment to the end of service. Thus allowing you to drive your favourite 50 on the routes you have already installed on your PC.

As a bonus, this pack contains Mk1 and Mk2 coaches in BR Blue/Grey, InterCity and Network SouthEast liveries, and DCWA engineers pool wagons. It also includes a number of additional activities that work with the Settle and Carlisle route supplied as part of Microsoft® Train Simulator. The developers of this add on pack believe this is the only way you can currently get Class 50's, Mk II and Network SouthEast-liveried stock - so it should have wider interest for virtual operators of British Rail trains from 1967 through to 1993.

System Requirements: Windows (98/ME/XP/Vista), 128Mb RAM, 2GB Hard Disk, 32 MB 3D-capable video card, CD-ROM drive, Microsoft Train Simulator. CD: £9.99 each. No of Copies required _____ Total £ _____

Semaphores and Diesels (Roger Siviter Great Bear Publishing)

With excellent railway photographs and the classic combination of Diesels and Semaphore signals this book is a winner. Many of the locations featured no longer have the signals, and in some cases track. The locos, and rolling stock are also lost to the tide of progress. Roger’s high-class photographs bring back memories of that time, when real trains ran on railways with historic infrastructure and each station had a signal box and each region had its own style of posts and signals. As ever, each photo is accompanied by an informative caption detailing the working, location and many points of interest.

Unlike Roger’s previous books this one covers the whole of the UK mainland.
